The Doctrine of Man and Sin

Course Lecturer: Roger R. Nicole, ThD, PhD

Former Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Reformed Theological Seminary

Prepared By: Frank T. Jones, MAR

Course Description

---

As ambassadors for Christ and the gospel, we must understand the true nature of man and the magnitude of his sin. This course presents a critical and historical overview of positions regarding the nature of mankind: both as the image of God and as corrupted by sin. The course presents a distinct Reformed anthropology coupled with a fair treatment of differing views and objections. Important and controversial questions regarding the origin of evil, the nature of man, and the effects of sin on humanity are all considered, allowing students to draw informed conclusions on these and other key issues.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of the course, you should be able to:

- Understand and define the key terms used in the discussion of anthropology.
- Explain the Reformed perspective on mankind as the image of God and as a fallen creation, and interact with views on the origin of evil.
- Interact with alternative viewpoints and offer arguments which support both sides of various issues.
- Understand the study of anthropology within its historical context.
