

COURSE SYLLABUS

The Missionary Encounter with World Religions

Course Lecturer: Harvie M. Conn, LittD

Former Professor of Missions and Director of the Urban Missions Program at Westminster Theological Seminary

Course Description

Nothing demonstrates the pluralism of our world better than religion. Christians must be able to respond to the myriad of religious systems that permeate society. This course develops a biblical theology of religions by studying current models and approaches. Using major religious systems as examples, the lectures sketch five characteristics of all religions. Students will learn the major concepts in religious encounter, including the concept of elenctics, various definitions of “religion,” and the five magnetic points of religions. The course culminates with practical suggestions for approaching world religions evangelistically.

Education:

- Geneva College, LittD
- Westminster Theological Seminary, BD and ThM
- Calvin College, BA

Teaching Career:

- Professor of Missions and Director of the Urban Missions Program, Westminster Theological Seminary (1972-1998)
- Taught New Testament at the General Assembly Theological Seminary in Seoul, Korea (1962-1972)
- While at Westminster, Dr. Conn focused on interdisciplinary teaching methods, believing that effective ministry work must connect and meet people where they are at in their lives

Other Career Highlights:

- Greatest contribution was to the field of urban missiology where he combined statistical data with Scriptural principles
- Skilled at interpreting popular culture and building bridges to the truths of Scripture and was highly influential in advocating for the important role urban missions must play in spreading the gospel
- Instrumental in the formation of the Center for Theological Studies
- Speaker/lecturer at numerous venues throughout the world
- Ordained as an orthodox Presbyterian minister
- He and his wife spent nearly 13 years as missionaries in Korea (1960-1972), where he worked as an itinerant preacher and ministered to the indigent including special ministries to prostitutes, pimps, and the underprivileged. Physically beaten on numerous occasions for his ministry work, Dr. Conn was a tangible example of turning the other cheek and loving those who are persecuting you.
